

A new way of communicating

myView is a new app for young people in care to access information, ask for help or raise worries or concerns.

It's been developed to make it easier for you to keep in touch with your case manager, to contact advocacy and complaints services, and to get help in an emergency.

If you're looking for information about your rights or staying safe, if you need to contact your worker or want to speak up about a problem or make a complaint, myView will give you a direct link to people who can help.

You can download and install the app on your mobile phone or tablet (iOS or Android – not Windows) and log in using your unique login and password.

To get download instructions or ask questions, contact either your case manager or Judith Garsed, Advocate for Children in Care on 0429 086 508 or at Judith.Garsed@communities.wa.gov.au

Young people in care have told us that they prefer to use technology to communicate. We'd love to hear your feedback so that we can improve the app for other young people in the future.
